

MONGOLIA.

A quest to uncover ever increasing information regarding world wide sightings and anomalous events, began when I alighted the Trans Mongolian Express, which departed Beijing to the capitol of Mongolia, Ulaanbaatar. This particular train journey covered 1551 km, duration of time taken, 30 hours.

Along the way I encountered many people taking the same route, who had several anomalous, celestial experiences to relate.

One such account was given to me by a couple who had stayed in a town in Mexico, they were taking a language course in a small Mexican village. Whilst in class, they told of an Ovni that made itself apparent during daylight hours. Many people in the vicinity reported an ovni hovering overhead. This was observed during the middle of the day, the craft's description was given as a cone shaped object which hovered for quite some time over the quadrangle of the complex. The students of the language course all went outside to observe this particular phenomenon. The event was also featured in the local print media.

Yet another account was passed on to me by local residents of Southern England. They observed a light in the sky in the area of the South coast of the United Kingdom, which again, hovered for quite some time, only to exit at high speed at a right angle. This event took place 2 years ago.

Indeed, a good introduction to the long awaited visit to Mongolia.

When one is visiting a country which is steeped in it's own cultural diversity and tradition, introducing the subject of ' off world ' civilizations, can be fraught with misinterpretation and confusion, one has to be very selective in the words used to glean information.

On a five day journey through the Gobi desert, I managed to speak with many people who inhabited this vast, barren landscape. Staying in Gers and experiencing life in the Gobi as the inhabitants do, it was indeed, a journey back in time.

This is a land where there are no fax machines, mobile phones, tv or the internet.

Through an interpreter, I asked if the people had seen lights in the sky, I was told that they didn't know of such things. Some days later, again I asked if they had ever heard of Ovni's, again, this drew a negative response. I tried once more, not wishing to offend their belief systems. 'Had the people ever heard of UFO's? ' once again they did not know what I was talking about.

Only, after some time, I showed the inhabitants of the desert, pictures I had taken in Australia, of an unknown craft hovering quite near my residence, then, and only then, did they say “Do you mean people who visit here from other worlds?”

Finally I started to receive some valuable information. I was told of a ‘plate shaped’ craft which made itself visible to many people in the desert, some years ago. This anomalous object did not land but hovered a few meters off the ground.

The guide then told of ‘people on the craft’ When asked ‘what was the description of these people?’ ‘ the guide told of tall, very tall beings , maybe 10 ft. Again I asked what color these ‘beings‘were, they said that they were a bronze shiny color.

Again I asked about other distinguishing features.

The people told of the ‘humanoids’ having very long arms and legs, no mouth or ears but having one eye.

Not only was this visitation seen by shepherds in the desert tending their goats but this event was also witnessed by people living on the parameter of Ulaanbaatar.

Now, one would have to ask the question, if these people who live in a very isolated area of the Gobi desert and indeed people who live in the outskirts of the capital city of Mongolia, are not sullied by T V Sci- Fi programs or glossy UFO magazines, where exactly are they receiving this incredible information from, if it was not an actual event?

Again I enquired if a message of any kind was conveyed when the visitation took place?

The people were made aware that the visitations were made apparent to many people throughout the world but mainly they showed themselves to ‘higher thinking, aware individuals’

It is patently obvious that one does not have to belong to academia or indeed hold a PhD, to view these enigmatic craft. One only has to possess an open mind and be aware.

The incident witnessed by the shepherds in the desert exactly matched the event viewed by many citizens in Ulaanbaatar.

The guide in Mongolia told that for as long as they could remember, they were aware of ‘ other people ‘ in the universe and they indeed visited earth on many occasions. The people had no fear of such events but felt it a privilege to see such craft.

DROPA STONES.....

Whilst in Mongolia, I decided to find out as much as possible regarding the Dropa Stones.

Although these stones were found on the border of Tibet and China, in the Mountains of BayernKara-Ula, in the year of 1938, much investigative work has been and still is on going, with the disk shaped stones. The disks are approximately nine inches in diameter and $\frac{3}{4}$ of an inch thick.

At the moment the disks are housed in the Beijing Museum.

The disk looks somewhat like a stone record, so I am told by a guide. There is a hole in the center and what seems to be, a spiral groove running from the centre of the disc to the outer edge... This groove, upon closer inspection, has closely written characters.

I was told that no one seemed to be able to decipher these characters, finally it was placed in the museum of [then] Peking.

It seems that over the space of 20 years many experts tried to translate these disks, to no avail.

It was only when a Doctor, by the name of Tsum Um Nui, seemed to break the code. Unfortunately the Museum of Peking, did not allow Dr Tsum to publish the findings of the 'speaking grooves'

In the year 1976, 716 more disks were uncovered in the same caves.

Given to me recently is the translated story, below.

They told the story of a space probe occupied by 'people ' of a planet from an other part of the universe. The vehicle apparently crash landed. I was told that these inhabitants from other worlds had peaceful intentions, alas, were hunted down and killed by members of the Han tribe, who lived in the near by vicinity...

These people from the 'sky 'gave themselves the name of Dropa ' .. Then they told of, coming down from the clouds in a space craft. Unfortunately for the vehicle, it crashed and there was no way they could build another craft.

According to the legend imprinted on the stones, the Dropa were unable to repair the craft and could not return to their home planet.

It was written that, some human people could understand the sign language used by these visitors from the stars.

If this information is indeed true, may be, to this day, there are descendents from this enigmatic race of beings.

In the year 1968 a Russian scientist by the name of W Saitsev, conducted tests on the discs and they revealed some rather peculiar properties.

The granite stones contained a high concentration of cobalt. This would be very difficult indeed to carve such intricate characters, as the stone is very hard.

An oscillograph was brought in. When the testing began, a surprising oscillating rhythm was detected, as if the disc was once electrically charged or had a function of being a conductor.

If, all the above information is true, this is indeed a fascinating insight into the origins of our past as a species.

After leaving enigmatic Mongolia, I arrived in Beijing, once called Peking, the capital of China.

This vast, sprawling city has an area of 16,808 sq km is home to 12 million people.

Once again, I was able to speak with a guide regarding the subject of anomalous objects in the sky. This time, they knew full well the phenomena of U F O's and related to me several events. These events were widely covered in the print media but did not appear on T V.

The Chinese people look at these events through scientific eyes, as it were. There seems to be no paranoia regarding these sightings, no debunking, just plain fact reporting, also with an acceptance of the reality of these sentient beings of light.

Below are just a few accounts given to me.

First, was a well known air miss event reported by a Chinese pilot in 1995.

The pilot was preparing to land his aircraft at the Guizou Province, in S-W China, when he had to rapidly change direction to avoid an anomalous object which was not an aircraft.

The Boeing 737 was on its landing approach, when the anti collision warning system came on. Apparently the pilot reported an object approximately 2 miles ahead and was rushing towards the aircraft. The color of the object was yellow but changed to red.

The pilot then managed to change course and landed without incident, however the object was visible on the aircraft's radar screen for 1 hour before disappearing over the mountains of Dushan.

The air traffic control announced that there were no other aircraft in the vicinity at that time.

A similar UFO had been seen and reported some months prior to that particular event, this time it was in a forest in the Northern area of the country.

Another report was given to me, this time it was in the village of Pusalu, in the year 2000. Apparently farmers in the hills near Beijing, saw arcs of light streaming to the heavens. They were adamant they were lights not belonging to the Earth.

Again, whilst in one of the bustling markets of Beijing, I managed to speak with a person who had seen an anomalous object, some months prior to my visit.

The male person related to me that he witnessed a flower, for want of a better description, moving through the star fields. When questioned further, the market vendor told me that after a while, the flower opened up and there were separate 'petals' which moved along with the primary object. It seemed apparent that the person was mesmerized by the sighting, as he told me that 'his eyes could not leave the event'.

Some people may remember Professor Sun Shi Li, lecturing in Australia and also Nevada, USA, regarding that many credible accounts of UFO sightings.

China has a bi-monthly magazine- circulation-400.000. Unlike western cultures, the Chinese look at UFO research through scientific eyes...

The Chinese researchers maintain that it will help spur new forms of high speed travel, unlimited energy, also faster growing crops... I would like to add that Prof Sun is the president of the government run, UFO research society [membership 50.000]

Sightings in China, as in other regions through out the world, are still on the increase to this day.

Synopsis...

One would have to postulate the reasoning behind with holding the evidence of these sightings.

Long past are the times when the uninformed can confidently state 'where is the evidence?'

The evidence of 'off world 'visitations is abundant to all who have an open mind.
No matter where one travels, there is well documented evidence of an event or a visitation, to be gleaned.

One can only wonder how long it will take world Governments to admit to the realization of 'off world ' visitations and technology, which frequently manifests itself here on planet Earth.

The time for debunking, derision and ridicule of this phenomena, is rapidly coming to a close.
